HICKS AND FLAHERTY ON VENGEANCE BENT.

Synopsis.—Captain Phineas P. Scraggs has grown up around the docks of San Francisco, and from mess boy on a river steamer, risen to the ownership of the steamer Maggie. Since each annual inspection promised to be the last of the old weatherbeaten vessel, Scraggs naturally has some difficulty in securing a crew. When the story opens, Adelbert P. Gibney, likable, but erratic, a man whom nobody but Scraggs would hire, is the skipper, Neils Halvorsen, a solemn Swede, constitutes the forcastle hands, and Bart McGuffey, a wastrel of the Gibney type, reigns in the engine room. With this motley crew and his ancient vessel, Captain Scraggs is engaged in freighting garden truck from Halfmoon bay to San Francisco. The inevitable happens, the Maggie going ashore in a fog. A passing vessel hailing the wreck, Mr. Gibney gets word to a towing company in San Francisco that the ship ashore is the Yankee Prince, with promise of a rich salvage.

"That'll do, bosun," Gibney thundered. Then, in his natural voice, to Scraggs: "All set, Scraggsy. Guess we're ready to be pulled off. Get down in the engine room and stand by for full speed ahead when I give the word."

"Quick! Hurry!" Scraggs entreated as he disappeared through the little engine-room hatch, for the tide was now at the tip of the flood and the Maggie was bumping wickedly and driving further up the beach. Mr. Gibney turned his stovepipe seaward and shouted: "Tugboats, ahoy!"

"Ahoy!" they answered in unison.

"All ready! Let'er go-o-o-o!"

The Squarehead stationed himself at the bitts with a lantern and Mr. Gibney hastened to the pilot house and took his place at the wheel. When the hawsers commenced to lift out of the sea, The Squarehead gave a warning shout, whereupon Mr. Gibney called the engine room. "Give her the gun," he commanded Scraggs. "Pull against them tugs for all you're worth. Remember this is the steamer Yankee Prince. We must not come off too readily."

Captain Scraggs opened the throttle, and while the two tugs steadily drew her off into deep water, the Maggie fought valiantly to stick to the beach and even to continue her interrupted journey overland. She merely succeeded in stretching both hawsers taut; slowly she was drawn seaward, stern first, and at the expiration of fifteen minutes' steady pulling, Mr. Gibney could restrain himself no longer. He rang for full speed astern—and got it promptly. Then, calling Neils Halvorsen to aid him, he abandoned the wheel and scrambled aft.

With no one at the wheel, the Maggie shot off at a tangent and the hawsers slacked immediately. In the twinkling of an eye Mr. Gibney had cast them off, and as the ends disappeared with a swish over the stern he ran back to the pilot house, rang for full speed ahead, put his helm hard over, and headed the Maggie in the general direction of China, although as a matter of fact he cared not what direction he pursued, provided he got away from the beach and placed distance between the Maggie and two soon-to-be-furious tugboat skippers.

CHAPTER IV.

The crews of the Aphrodite and the Bodega slept late, for they were weary and, fortunately, no calls for a tug came into the office of the Red Stack company all morning. About ten o'clock Dan Hicks and Jack Flaherty breakfasted and about ten-thirty both met in the office. Apparently they were two souls with but a single thought, for the right hand of each sought the shelf whereon reposed the blue volume entitled "Lloyd's Register." Dan Hicks reached it first, carried it to the counter, wet his tarry index finger and started turning the pages in a vain search for the American steamer Yankee Prince. Presently he looked up at Jack Flaherty.

"Flaherty," he said, "I think you're a liar."

"The same to you and many of them," Flaherty replied, not a bit abashed. "You said she was an eight thousand-ton tramp."

"I never went so far as to say I'd been aboard her on trial trip, though—and did cut down her tonnage, showin' I got the fragments of a conscience left," Hicks defended himself.

He closed the book with a sigh and placed it back on the shelf, just as the door opened to admit no less personage than Bartholomew McGuffey, late chief engineer, first assistant, second assistant, third assistant, wiper, oiler, water-tender and stoker of the S. S. Maggie. With a brief nod to Jack Flaherty Mr. McGuffey approached Dan Hicks.

"I been lookin' for you, captain," he announced. "Say, I hear the chief o' the Aphrodite's goin' to take a three months' layoff to get shet of his rheumatism. Is that straight?"

"I believe it is, McGuffey."

"Well, say, I'd like to have a chance to substitoot for him. You know my capabilities, Hicks, an' if it would be agreeable to you to have me for your chief your recommendation would go a long way toward landin' me the job. I'd sure make them engines behave."

"What vessel have you been on lately?" Hicks demanded cautiously, for he knew Mr. McGuffey's reputation for non-reliability around pay day.

"I been with that freshwater scavenger, Scraggs, in the Maggie for most a year."

"Did you quit or did Scraggs fire you?"

"He fired me," McGuffey replied honestly. "If he hadn't I'd have quit, so it's a toss-up. Comin' in from Halfmoon bay last night we got in the fog an' piled up on the beach just below the Cliff house—"

"This is interesting," Jack Flaherty murmured. "You say she walked ashore on you, McGuffey? Well, I'll be shot!"

"She did. Scraggs blamed it on me, Flaherty. He said I didn't obey the signals from the bridge, one word led to another, an' he went dancin' mad an' ordered me off his ship. Well, it's his ship—or it was his ship, for I'll bet a dollar she's ground to powder by now—so all I could do was obey. I hopped overboard an' waded ashore. I suppose all my clothes an' things is gone by now. I left everything aboard an' had to borrow this outfit from Scab Johnny." He grinned pathetically. "So I guess you understand, Captain Hicks, just how bad I need that job I spoke about a minute ago."

"I'll think it over, Mac, an' let you know," Hicks replied evasively.

Mr. McGuffey, sensing his defeat, retired forthwith to hide his embarrassment and distress; as the door closed behind him, Hicks and Flaherty faced each other.

"Jack," quoth Dan Hicks, "can two towboat men, holdin' down two hundred-dollar jobs an' presumed to have been out o' their swaddlin' clothes for at least thirty years, afford to be laughed off the San Francisco waterfront?"

"I know one of them that can't, Dan. At the same time, can a rat like Phineas P. Scraggs and a beachcomber like his mate Gibney make a pair of star-spangled monkeys out of said two towboat men and get away with it?"

"They did that last night. Still, I've known monkeys that would fight an' was human enough to settle a grudge. Follow me, Jack."

Together they repaired to Jackson street bulkhead. Sure enough, there lay the Maggie, rubbing her blistered sides against the bulkhead. Captain Scraggs was nowhere in sight, but Mr. Gibney was at the winch, swinging ashore the crates of vegetables which The Squarehead and three longshoremen loaded into the cargo net.

"We're outnumbered," Jack Flaherty whispered. "Let's wait until she's unloaded an' Gibney an' Scraggs are aboard alone."

They retired without having attracted the attention of Mr. Gibney.

Promptly at twelve o'clock the longshoremen knocked off work for the lunch hour and Neils Halvorsen drifted across the street to cool his parched throat with steam beer. While waiting for Scraggs to come up out of the engine room, and take him to luncheon, Mr. Gibney sauntered aft and was standing gazing reflectively upon a spot on the Maggie's stern where the hawsers had chafed away the paint, when suddenly his forebodings of evil returned to him a thousand fold stronger than they had been since Scraggs' return to the little ship. He glanced up and beheld gazing down upon him Captains Jack Flaherty and Daniel Hicks. Battle was imminent and the valiant Gibney knew it; wherefore he determined instantly to meet it like a man.

"Howdy, men," he saluted them. "Glad to have you aboard the yacht," and he stepped backward to give himself fighting room.

"Here's where we collect the towage bill on the S. S. Yankee Prince," Dan Hicks informed him, and leaped from the bulkhead straight down at Mr. Gibney. Jack Flaherty followed. Mr. Gibney welcomed Captain Hicks with a terrific right swing, which missed; before he could guard, Dan Hicks had planted left and right where they would do the most good and Mr. Gibney went into a clinch to save himself further punishment.

"Scraggsy," he bawled, "Scraggsy-y-y! Help! Murder! It's Hicks and Flaherty! Bring an ax!"

He flung Dan Hicks at Jack Flaherty; as they collided he rushed in and dealt each of them a powerful poke. However, Messrs. Hicks and Flaherty were sizeable persons and while, individually, they were no match for the tremendous Gibney, nevertheless what they lacked in horsepower they made up in pugnacity—and the salt sea seldom breeds a craven. Captain Scraggs thrust a frightened face up through the engine-room hatch, but at sight of the battle royal taking place on the deck aft, his blood turned to water and he thought only of escape. To climb up to the bulkhead without being seen was impossible, however, so, not knowing what else to do, he stood on the iron ladder and gazed, pop-eyed with horror, at the unequal contest.

Backward and forward the tide of battle surged. For nearly three minutes all Scraggs saw was an indistinct tangle of legs and arms; then suddenly the combatants disengaged themselves and Scraggs beheld Mr. Gibney prone upon the deck with a gory face upturned to the foggy skies. When he essayed to rise and continue the contest, Flaherty kicked him in the ribs and Hicks cursed him; so Mr. Gibney, realizing that all was over, beat the deck with his hand in token of surrender. Hicks and Flaherty waited until the fallen gladiator had recovered sufficient breath to sit up; then they pounced upon him, lifted him to the rail, and dropped him overboard. Captain Scraggs shrieked in protest at this added touch of barbarity, and Dan Hicks, turning, beheld Scraggsy's white face at the hatch.

"You're next, Scraggs," he called cheerfully, and turned to peer over the rail. Mr. Gibney had emerged on the surface and was swimming slowly away toward an adjacent float where small boats landed. He climbed wearily up on the float and sat there, gazing across at Hicks and Flaherty without animus, for to his way of thinking he had gotten off lightly, considering the enormity of his offense. The least he had anticipated was three months in hospital, and so grateful was he to Hicks and Flaherty for their forbearance that he strangled a resolve to "lay" for Hicks and Flaherty and thrash them individually—something he was fully able to do—and forgot his aches and pains in a lively interest as to the fate of Captain Scraggs at the hands of the towboat men. He was aware that Captain Scraggs had failed ignominiously to rally to the Gibney appeal to repel boarders, and in his own expressive terminology he hoped that what the enemy would do to the dastard would be "a-plenty."

"Scraggsy," He Bawled, "Scraggsy-y-y! Help! Murder! It's Hicks and Flaherty! Bring an Ax!"

The enemy, meanwhile, had turned their attention upon Scraggs, who had dodged below like a frightened rabbit and sought shelter in the shaft alley. He had sufficient presence of mind, as he dashed through the engine room, to snatch a large monkey wrench off the tool rack on the wall, and, kneeling just inside the alley entrance he turned at bay and threatened the invaders with his weapon. Thereupon Hicks and Flaherty pelted him with lumps of coal, but the sole result of this assault was to force Scraggs further back into the shaft alley and out of range.

The towboat men held a council of war and decided to drown Scraggs out. Dan Hicks ran up on deck and returned dragging the deck fire hose behind him. He thrust the brass nozzle into the shaft-alley entrance and invited Scraggs to surrender unconditionally or be drowned like a kitten. Scraggs, knowing his own fire hose, defied them, so Dan Hicks started the pump while Flaherty turned on the water. Instantly the hose burst up on deck and Scraggs' jeers of triumph filled the engine room. The enemy was about to draw lots to see which one of the two should crawl into the shaft alley and throw a cupful of chloride of lime (for they found a can of this in the engine room) in Captain Scraggs' face, when a shadow darkened the hatch and Mr. Bartholomew McGuffey demanded belligerently: "What's goin' on down there? Who the devil's takin' liberties in my engine room?"

Dan Hicks explained the situation and the just cause for drastic action which they held against the fugitive in the shaft alley. Mr. McGuffey considered a few moments and made his decision.

"If what you say is true—an' I ain't in position to dispute you, not havin' been present when you hauled the Maggie off the beach, I don't blame you for feeling sore. What I do blame you for, though, is carryin' the war aboard the Maggie. If you wanted to whale Gib an' Scraggsy you should ha' laid for 'em on the dock. Under the circumstances, you make this a pers'nal affair, an' as a member o' the crew o' the Maggie I got to take a hand an' defend my skipper agin youse two. Fact is, gentlemen, I got a date to lick him first for what he done to me last night. Howsumever, that's a private grouch. The fact remains that you two jumped my pal Bert Gibney an' licked him somethin' scandalous. Hicks, I'll take you on first. Come up out of there, you swab, and fight. Flaherty, you stay below until I send for you; if you try to climb up an' horn in on my fight with Hicks, Gibney'll brain you."

A faint cheer came from the shaft alley. "Good old Mac. At-a-boy!"

"You're on, McGuffey. Nobody ever had to beg me to fight him," Dan Hicks replied cordially, and climbed to the deck. To his great surprise, Mr. McGuffey winked at him and drew him off to the stern of the Maggie.

"There'll be no fight," he declared, "although we'll thud around on deck an' yell a couple o' times to make Scraggs think we're goin' to it. He figgers that by the time I've fought you an' Flaherty I won't be fit for combat with him, even if I lick you both; he's got it all figgered out that I'll wait a couple o' days before tacklin' him, an' he thinks my temper'll cool by that time an' he can argy me out o' my revenge. Savey?"

"I twig."

Mr. Gibney had returned to the Maggie by this time and he now took his station at the engine-room hatch and growled at Flaherty and abused him. "Keep up your courage, Scraggsy," he called, as Hicks and McGuffey pranced around the deck in simulated combat. "Mac's whallin' the whey out o' Hicks an' Hicks couldn't touch him with a buggy whip."

At the conclusion of the three minutes of horseplay, Mr. McGuffey came to the hatch again. "Up with you, Flaherty," he called loud enough for Captain Scraggs to hear, "up with you before I go down after you."

Flaherty was about to possess himself of a hatchet when the face of his confrere. Dan Hicks, appeared over McGuffey's shoulder and grinned knowingly at him. Immediately, Flaherty hurled defiance at his enemies and came up on deck, and once more to Captain Scraggs came the dull sounds of apparent conflict overhead.

Suddenly a cheer broke from Mr. Gibney. "All off an' gone to Coopertown, Scraggsy," he shouted. "Come up an' take a look at the fallen."

Out of the shaft alley came Scraggs with a rush, tossing his wrench aside the better to climb the ladder. He was half way up when Mr. Gibney reached down a great hand, grasped him by the collar, and whisked him out on deck with a single jerk. Here, to his horror, he found himself confronted by a singularly scathless trio who grinned triumphantly at him.

"Seein' is believin', Scraggs," Dan Hicks informed him. "That's a lesson you taught me an' Flaherty last night, but evidently you don't profit by experience. You're too miserable to beat up, but just to show you it ain't possible for a dirty bay pirate like you to skin the likes o' me an' Flaherty we purpose hangin' the seat o' your pants up around your coat collar. Face him about, Gibney."

With a quick twist, Mr. Gibney presented Captain Scraggs for his penance; Flaherty and McGuffey followed Dan Hicks promptly and Captain Scraggs screamed at every kick. And now came Mr. Gibney's turn. "For fallin' to stand up like a man, Scraggsy, an' battle Hicks an' Flaherty," he informed the culprit, and tossed him over to McGuffey to be held in position for him.

"Don't, Gib. Please don't," Scraggs wailed. "It ain't comin' to me from you. I never heard you callin' a-tall. Honest, I never, Gib. Have mercy, Adelbert. You saved the Maggie last night an' a quarter interest in her is yours—if you don't kick me!"

Mr. Gibney paused, foot in midair; surveyed the Maggie from stem to stern, hesitated, licked his lower lip, and glanced at the common enemy. For an instant it came into his mind to call upon the valiant and able McGuffey to support him in a fierce counter-attack upon Hicks and Flaherty. Only for an instant, however; then his sense of fair play conquered.

"No, Scraggsy," he replied sadly. "She ain't worth it, an' your duplicity can't be overlooked. If there's anything I hate it's duplicity. Here goes, Scraggsy—and get yourself a new navigatin' officer."

Scraggs twisted and flinched instantly, and Mr. Gibney's great boot missed the mark. "Ah," he breathed, "I'll give you an extra for that."

"Don't! Please don't," Scraggs howled. "Lay off'n me an' I'll put in a new boiler an' have the compass adjusted."

The words were no sooner out of his mouth than Mr. McGuffey swung him clear of Mr. Gibney's wrath. "Swear it," he hissed. "Raise your right hand an' swear it—an' I'll protect you from Gib."

Captain Scraggs raised a trembling right hand and swore it. "I'll get a new fire hose an' fire buckets; I'll fix the ash hoist and run the bedbugs an' cockroaches out of her," he added.

"You hear that, Gib?" McGuffey pleaded. "Have a heart."

"Not unless he gives her a coat of paint an' quits bickerin' about the overtime, Bart."

"I promise," Scraggs answered him. "Pervided," he added, "you an' dear ol' Mac promises to stick by the ship."

"It's a whack," yelled McGuffey joyfully, and whirling, struck Dan Hicks a mighty blow on the jaw. "Off our ship, you hoodlums." He favored Jack Flaherty with a hearty thump and swung again on Dan Hicks. "At 'em, Scraggsy. Here's where you prove to Gib whether you're a man—thump—or a mouse—thump—or a—thump, thump—bobtailed—thump—rat."

Dan Hicks had been upset, and as he sprawled on his back on deck, he appeared to Captain Scraggs to offer at least an even chance for victory. So Scraggs, mustering his courage, flew at poor Hicks tooth and toenail. His best was not much but it served to keep Dan Hicks off Mr. McGuffey while the latter was disposing of Jack Flaherty, which he did, via the rail, even as the towboat men had disposed of Mr. Gibney. Dan Hicks followed Flaherty, and the crew of the Maggie crowded the rail as the enemy swam to the float, crawled up on it and departed, vowing vengeance.

"All's well that ends well, gentlemen," Mr. McGuffey announced. "Scraggsy's goin' to buy a drink an' the past is buried an' forgotten. Didn't old Scraggsy put up a fight, Gib?"

"No, but he tried to, Mac. I'll tell the world he did," and he thrust out the hand of forgiveness to Scraggsy, who, realizing he had come very handsomely out of an unlovely situation, clasped the hands of Mr. Gibney and McGuffey and burst into tears. While Mr. McGuffey thumped him between the shoulder blades and cursed him affectionately, Mr. Gibney retired to change into dry garments; when he reappeared the trio went ashore for the promised grog and a luncheon at the skipper's expense.

"I'll Fix the Ash Hoist and Run the Bedbugs and Cockroaches Out of Her."

This Scraggs person is some fine little promiser.

STEEPLES OF MANY DESIGNS

No General Rule Has Been Followed by Architects in Centuries of Church Building.

Steeple is a general architectural name for the whole arrangement of tower, belfry, spire, etc. The origin of steeples is obscure, the term spire (Old English, "spir," a blade of grass, and so anything tapering to a point), is the specific architectural term given lofty roofs in stone or wood, covered with lead or slate which crown the towers of cathedrals, churches and various other buildings. In plan they are conical, or pyramidal or octagonal, or hexagonal, often pierced by ornamental openings where they are enriched with crockets. On the continent the architects aimed to make the steeple and spire one, merging them into each other, while in England they openly confessed it was a separate structure by making its point of origin behind a plain or pierced parapet, or ornamental battlements. A spire properly belongs to pointed architecture and hence has never been fully developed except in Gothic buildings. As early as the Twelfth century they took on different forms, and almost everywhere from the Thirteenth to the Sixteenth century became the terminating construction of every church steeple, tower or lantern, and also those of similar buildings, more especially in Germany and France. In England Norman churches were without spires, but with the coming of early English, short ones were introduced; decorated Gothic called for much higher ones, and the perpendicular still higher. The earlier spires were generally built of timber, and they were always so when the building was roofed with wood. These early timber spires were, as a rule, not very tall, but later reached a greater elevation; that which crowned old St. Paul's in London is said to have been 527 feet in height. The most lofty spires now in existence, such as those of Salisbury, Coventry and Norwich, are all of stone.

OZONE AND THE SAND MAN

The Two Are Quite Closely Related, Though Probably Few People Could Tell How.

People who spend their vacations at the seashore at this time of the year usually find that their nights are dreamless and restful.

They say that the sea air makes them sleepy. Wheeled along in a beach chair, one is likely to feel drowsy or even go to sleep.

It is the ozone in the air that does it. The air at the seashore is full of ozone, which might be called a concentrated oxygen. Ozone is a powerful and healthful stimulant.

Whence, by the way, comes the nursery idea of the Sand Man, herald of sleep?

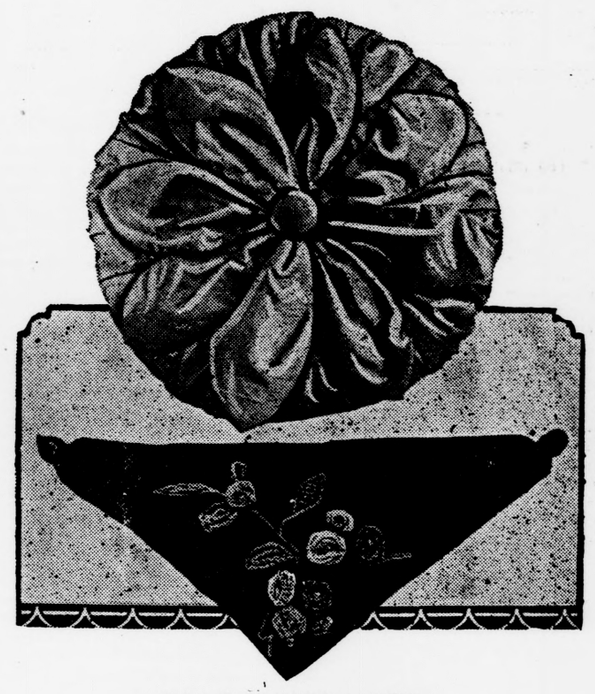
The answer is that the approach of sleep checks the flow from the earducts which keeps the eyes moist. There results a dryness and slight uncomfortableness of the lids, causing one to rub the eyes. The Sand Man has come, and it is time to go to bed. —Philadelphia Record.

Popular Japanese Amusement.

We of the western world "loop the loop" and "shoot the chutes" in our amusement parks; but in Japan the people indulge in more gentle forms of amusement. One of their most thrilling rides is across Tokyo bay in an aerial railway.

The cars hang on stout cables that are stretched across the bay and they are operated by a motorman who stands in front. The cars are made so that they will float, in case of accident.—Popular Science Monthly.

Pretty Things That are made at Home



Make Good Christmas Gifts.

EVERYONE loves a comfortable and pretty sofa pillow, and the shops are showing them in many attractive shapes and colors. The styles change in them, as in other things, and it is worth while to note those that are popular just now, because they are the pillows that will be used for holiday gifts, and many a pillow will be made between now and Christmas.

In shapes, the round pillow leads in popularity, followed by the square pillow and the roll pillow. There are some oval models and an occasional odd shape, like the small triangular pillow shown in the picture. Taffeta is the favored material for coverings, both in plain and changeable weaves. Brocaded silk, in which a metallic figure appears, on a silk ground, is used for the sides of round and oblong pillows, having a puff of velvet, matching the silk in color, around the edges. Rose and gold brocade with rose velvet, and black and gold, with black velvet, make the handsomest of these pillows, but other colors are used.

Black satine is substituted for satin in square pillows, bound with black and gold, flat braid and decorated with applique flowers, cut from gay colored velvets. The flowers are outlined with small black and gold cord. In the small pillow pictured pine needles are used for stuffing, and yarn flowers, in bright colors, for decoration.

Corded taffeta is the favorite pillow covering and the cords are inserted in varied ways. The taffeta is gathered at the center of the pillow and a big, flat silk-covered button mold conceals the gathering, on round and square pillows. A round pillow, as pictured, is covered with plain blue taffeta, and a huge daisy, made of blue taffeta and having its petals lined with yellow taffeta is posed on it.

There are, of course, dainty boudoir pillows with slips made of fine cotton fabrics and trimmed with embroidery and wash laces. These pillows are small and are covered with silk.

DIGNIFIED MILLINERY WITH DEFINITE LINES

Hats With Definite Lines.

IT IS hard to generalize about hats, since they are so endlessly varied. It appears that designers have aspirations that no two of their brain-children shall be alike; but they have no objection to certain family resemblances in them. In the group of four hats illustrated, we discover models that good taste and propriety dictate may be worn by matrons—older women, who have passed by the era of romantic millinery and reached that of brilliant and spirited headwear. The hats pictured are both brilliant and spirited, yet they are all in black or quiet shades of color.

A little study of these models reveals that they have definite lines, which the mode sponsors, along with a much more numerous family of hats that are vague and soft in outline. These are becoming to nearly everyone, but not always the best choice for the matron, who finds more vivacity in shapes, like the tricorn or Napoleon, or in the several styles in turbans. The Russian turban, at the top of the group, is brimming over with style, and is a special dispensation of this season for the benefit of matronly wearers. It is made of black velvet, and has a brilliant rhinestone ornament dangling from its pointed front. Glycerined ostrich flues spring up about the brim edge and droop over it. There seems to be no room for improvement in this design.

Silver cloth and metallic silks have an unassailable prestige in the season's modes and silver tissue drapes the square crown of the hat at the left. The brim of black velvet shows itself clever enough for such fine company by being gracefully uneven in width and notched at the front. A spray of ostrich flues springs from the right side.

A very new turban of sand colored duvetyn has jet sequins set above its brim and contrives a crown that suggests the youthful tam. A wreath of monkey fur redeems this bit of frivolity. The black hat at the bottom of the group, ought by virtue of its name, to lead the rest. It is a Napoleon shape, covered with velvet and decorated with beads. These beads are of wood, as large as small peas, and are put on in loops. The trimming is wrapped by ornaments at each side.

Fur Hems.

Fur hems are a part of some of the new suits. If there is a hem of fur there is, of course, a collar of fur to the jacket, and usually there are also deep cuffs of fur.

Household Economy.

It is not always economy to make things that take a lot of time and save little money. But it will be an economy to make your own shades that can be washed and ironed. Select a heavy bleached cotton cloth, cut the length and width of the window, and make a hem of one inch at the bottom. Tack onto the rollers with small tacks and insert the old curtain sticks in the low hems. These can be taken off the rollers, washed, ironed and starched stiffly as often as they show soil.

Smart Scarfs.

Some smart scarfs in rich Indian colorings are being shown in Angora and brushed wool, usually finished all around with a deep wool fringe.

Feeble Blood Works Havoc

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Makes Red Blood; Liquid and Tablet Form

When blood becomes thin and weak it is due to a falling off in the number of red blood cells. It is easily recognized by pallid skin or a blemished complexion, loss of appetite or unnatural irritability and a sensation of weakness. It is not dangerous at first. In fact, many people scarcely notice it and go on for days, thinking they will be better the next day.

The great danger is in the possibility of becoming seriously ill from disease, which can work havoc in a body that lacks the endurance and resistance in rich, red blood.

Taken in time and steadily, a few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan are a great help. It improves the quality of the blood by adding red blood cells. They check the weakness, improve the appetite, and clear the complexion.

You can get Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid and tablet form at your druggist's. Get the genuine with the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package. Advertisement.

Program for week beginning Nov. 7th

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 7th
A PARAMOUNT PICTURE
"Straight Is The Way"
with
Matt Moore and Gladys Leslie

The man was a human wolf. Reared in the great cities dens of crime. Come with his pals to fleece a village of country lambs. Some of the love and kindness and simple folks, Believed in him! The rest is a tale of the greatest battle earth knows. The good against the bad in a human heart. "Straight is The Way," that leads to everlasting life. Burton Holmes Travel Picture. Pathe News.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8th
"The Call of Youth"

Youth! All on fire with love! Till blind age chilled its joy with beauty. If all the world and love were young there would be a joyous romance of life's springtime. But we grow older with the years and responsibilities and the honor of age takes its place. See this truly wonderful little play filmed in the beauty and charm of rural England and played by an All-Star Cast. Rolan comedy. Pathe Review. "The Yellow Arm Mystery.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9th
FAMOUS PLAYERS COR. Presents
"The Prince Chap"
with
Thomas Meighan

A story of love among the artists. A tender romance of tears and laughter. Did you like "Humoresque?" If so, here is a story no doubt the greatest Thomas Meighan has ever played with a heart appeal equal to "Humoresque." You will see him leading a bachelor's life, toddling a homeless baby girl, at the cost to him of the woman he loved. Come and see "The Prince Chap" make good, for he promised the dying mother that he would take care of the child no matter what happened. For the benefit of everybody concerned it will be run at the regular price of 28c and 14c. Fox News. Star comedy.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10th
GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING COR. Presents
"Prisoners of Love"
—with—
Betty Compson

The rapture of first love, the agony of disillusion, the peace that is bred of pain, all these are blended in Betty Compson's marvelous performance of the beautiful Blanche Davis in "Prisoners of Love." We have been advised by a great many of our patrons that if we run these big specials at regular price we would do better. Now in these two pictures, namely, "The Prince Chap" and "Prisoners of Love" you are sure y getting a treat. We would like to see everyone present to see both of them. Cent ıry comedy. Pathe News.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11th
REALART Presents
Alice Brady
—in—
"Dawn of The East"

Alice Brady taking the leading role suitable for her in a Russian Chinese American drama. Caught in the web of oriental intrigue and cunning, the beautiful Russian countess fights her way to freedom and happiness. This is one of Alice Brady's best pictures. Also the greatest serial ever shown, Charles Hutchison in "Hurricane Hutch." Paramount Magazine.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12th
WILLIAM FOX Presents
An All-Star Cast
—in—
"Blind Wives"

Beauty, luxury, with love and admiration, akin to the tragedy of Babylon. Scenes that are gorgeous, bewildering you in fashions show. Persuade your husband and yourself to see this marvelous picture at our regular price. Fox News. Sennett comedy.

SUPERIORITIES OF MEAT

MEAT is the most important source of protein and iron in the human dietary.

Meat is an important source of energy-producing nutriment and of phosphorus.

Meat contains considerable quantities of fat—and water—soluble and a fair proportion of antiscorbutic vitamines.

Meat in the diet adds to the nutritive value of vegetable protein.

Meat contributes more to the palatability of the diet than does any other kind of food.

Wilmington's Big Autumn Shopping Event—Extraordinary

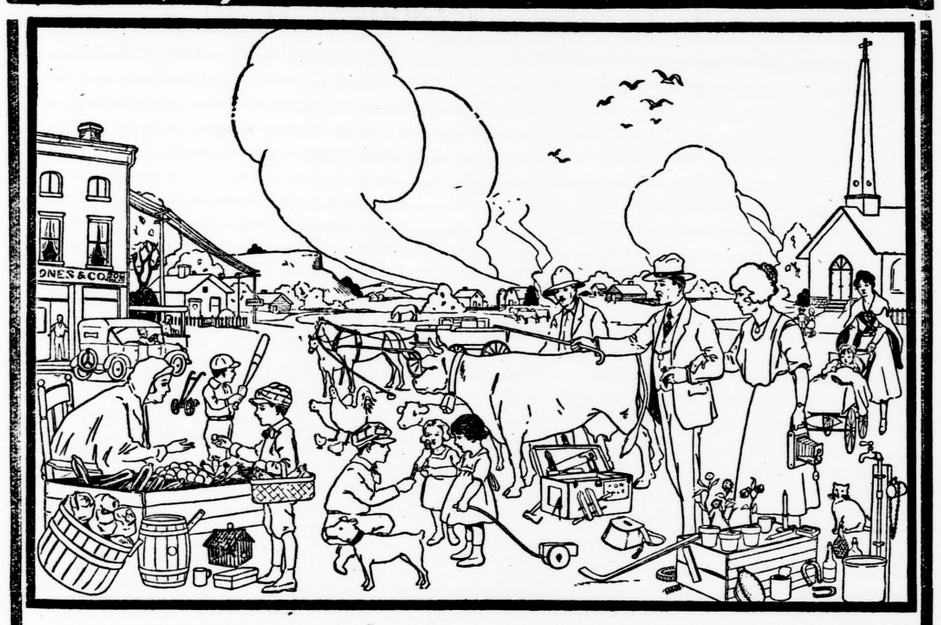
SUBURBAN SHOPPING DAYS

NOVEMBER 7-8-9

Every merchant member of the Chamber of Commerce is planning to make this a merchandising drive to secure a broader acquaintance and prove the superior shopping advantages of Wilmington.

COME TO WILMINGTON NOV. 7-8-9——DON'T FORGET

Under Direction Mercantile Section Wilmington Chamber of Commerce



The picture above contains a number of objects beginning with the letter "C." The object of the Game is to find the most. CAN YOU? Take a good look at the picture; see, there are all sorts of objects that begin with the letter "C," like cat, cow, calf, church, cabbage. Nothing is hidden—you don't have to turn the picture upside down to find them. Make a list of all the objects in the picture the names of which begin with the letter "C." Don't miss any. Get the family to join in and see who can find the most. Fifteen cash prizes will be given for the fifteen best lists of words submitted. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of visible objects shown in this picture, starting with the letter "C," will be awarded first prize; second best, second prize, etc.

Young and Old Join in the Fun

Here you are, folks, the most interesting Game of all times A CARNIVAL OF FUN—in which "The Philadelphia Record" invites you to take part. It is a simple stay-right-in-your-own-home-and-enjoy-it Game. For fathers, mothers, granddaddies, grandmothers, for Betties and Bobbies—for everyone. LET'S get started.

No matter what your age is or isn't, if you like to solve puzzles, try your hand at this one. It is different than any you ever tried before. It is really not a puzzle at all, for all the objects have been made perfectly plain, with no attempt to disguise or hide them; none are so small but that the poorest eye-sight can see them. It is a test of skill. Your ability to find correct "C" Words, determines the prize you can win.

Extra Puzzle Pictures Free on Request

You Can Win $1000

The "C"-Word Picture Puzzle Game is a campaign to increase the popularity of "The Philadelphia Record." It costs nothing to take part, and you do not have to send in a single subscription to win a prize.

If your list of "C" words is awarded first prize by the judges, you will win $30.00, but if you would like to win more than $30.00, we are making the following special offer whereby you can win bigger cash prizes by sending in one or two yearly subscriptions, with remittance to cover, to "The Philadelphia Record."

Here's how: If the judges award your answer first prize, and you have sent in one yearly subscription to the Daily or Sunday "Record," you will receive $350 instead of $30; Second prize, $250; Third Prize $150.00, etc. (See second column of figures in prize list.

Or, if you are awarded First Prize and you have sent in two yearly subscriptions (either one new one and one renewal, or two new subscriptions) to the Daily or Sunday "Record," you will receive $1000 instead of $30; Second Prize, $750; Third Prize, $500, etc. (See third column of figures in prize list).

It takes but two subscriptions to qualify for the big $1000.00 reward. Absolutely two subscriptions is the maximum, one of which is to be a new subscriber. You can do this with little effort. Your own subscription will count as one and we can take subscriptions to start at any future date. In sending in your subscriptions give full instructions on a separate sheet from that on which you sent your answer.

THE PRIZES

Winning answers will receive cash prizes according to table below:

	If no subscriptions are sent	If one subscription is sent	If two subscriptions are sent*
1st Prize	$30.00	$350.00	$1000.00
2nd Prize	20.00	250.00	750.00
3rd Prize	15.00	150.00	500.00
4th Prize	10.00	100.00	300.00
5th Prize	7.50	50.00	150.00
6th Prize	5.00	40.00	100.00
7th Prize	3.00	30.00	80.00
8th Prize	3.00	20.00	60.00
9th Prize	3.00	15.00	40.00
10th to 15th	2.00	10.00	20.00

*NOTE: In order to qualify your answer for the maximum awards, it will only be necessary to send in one renewal and one new subscription, or two new subscriptions, but two renewal subscriptions cannot be counted.

Observe These Rules:

1. Any man, woman, girl or boy residing in the States of Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, who is not in the employ of "The Philadelphia Record" or a member of an employee's family, may submit an answer, It costs nothing to try.
2. All answers must be mailed by November 19, 1921, and addressed to Ray Newell, Puzzle Manager, "The Philadelphia Record."
3. Answers should be written on one side of the paper only and words numbered consecutively 1-2-3, etc. Write your full name and address on each page, in the upper right hand corner. If you desire to write anything else, use a separate sheet.
4. Only words found in the English diotionary will be counted. Do not use hyphenated, compound or obsolete words. Use either the singular or plural, but where the plural is used, the singular cannot be counted and vice versa.
5. Words of the same spelling can be used only once, even though used to designate different objects. The same object can be named only once, however; any part of the object may also be named.
6. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of names of visible objects shown in the picture, that begin with the letter "C," will be awarded first prize, etc. Neatness, style or handwriting, have no bearing upon deciding the winners.
7. Candidates may co-operate in answering the Puzzle, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household; nor will prizes be awarded to more than one of any group, outside of the family, where two or more have been working together.
8. In the event of a tie for any prize offered, the full amount of such prize will be paid to each tied participant.
9. Subscriptions (both new and renewal) by mail or carrier will be accepted. However, in qualifying for the $1000.00 bonus reward, at least one new subscription must be sent in.
10. A new subscriber is any one who has not been receiving "The Record," by mail or carrier, since November 1st.
11. All new subscriptions will be carefully verified by the Puzzle Manager. Candidates marking old subscriptions as new will positively forfeit the credit of such subscriptions, as qualifying for the maximum bonus rewards.
12. All answers will receive the same consideration, regardless of whether or not a subscription for "The Philadelphia Record" is sent in.
13. There will be three independent judges, having no connection with "The Philadelphia Record," who will judge the answers submitted and award the prizes at the end of the Puzzle Game, and participants agree to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive.
14. The judges will meet on Thursday, December 1, 1921, and the announcement of the prize winners and the correct list of words will be published in "The Philadelphia Record" as quickly thereafter as is possible.

NASH FOUR

New Low Price

$1045

Breaks All Car Value Records

This final drastic reduction brings the leader of high grade light cars to a popular car price

No such striking contrast between quality and price has ever been known in the motor car industry.

The great Nash Four factory at Milwaukee was built solely and exclusively to produce this car on a quality basis and to make it the unrivalled leader in the light car field.

At its original price of $1395, this great car represented a generous measure of value. Demand has always been far in excess of production.

Now at its present reduced price, $1045, a new standard of value is established, through greatly increased production and a narrow profit margin.

See and Drive This Nash

See this car today and go over it in detail. Observe its big, handsome, roomy, straight-line body; the choice coachwork of its deep Nash blue finish; the depth and luxury of its genuine leather upholstery.

Then consider the Nash Perfected Valve-in-Head Four-Cylinder Motor—the acknowledged performer among four-cylinder power plants. This famous engine, now refined to the utmost degree, gives this car a responsiveness, flexibility and ease of handling that is rare even in cars costing hundreds more.

Now ride in this car and get the full meaning of Nash Four riding comfort on its extremely long, semi-elliptic springs. Take it over the rough spots and observe the ease with which each bump and jolt is absorbed.

In the three outstanding essentials, appearance, performance and riding comfort—

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid overheated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming overheated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

The Transcript, $1.00

Good Health

If you would enjoy good health, keep your bowels regular. No one can reasonably hope to feel well, when constipated. When needed, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are mild and gentle.

I AM THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

By BRISTOW ADAMS.

I am the Country Newspaper.

I am the friend of the family, the bringer of tidings from other friends; I speak to the home in the evening light of summer's vine-clad porch or the glow of winter's lamp.

I help to make this evening hour; I record the great and the small, the varied acts of the days and weeks that go to make up life.

I am for and of the home; I follow those who leave humble beginnings; whether they go to greatness or to the gutter, I take to them the thrill of old days, with wholesome messages.

I speak the language of the common man; my words are fitted to his understanding. My congregation is larger than that of any church in my town; my readers are more than those in the school. Young and old alike find in me stimulation, instruction, entertainment, inspiration, solace, comfort. I am the chronicler of birth, and love and death—the three great facts of man's existence.

I bring together buyer and seller, to the benefit of both; I am part of the market-place of the world. Into the home I carry word of the goods which feed and clothe and shelter, and which minister to comfort, ease, health, and happiness.

I am the word of the week, the history of the year, the record of my community in the archives of state and nation.

I am the exponent of the lives of my readers.

I am the Country Newspaper.

MICKIE SAYS

A FINE OLD HOME PAPER

(Tune—A Fine Old English Gentleman.)

These magazines with gravures and all these works of art,
Are very well for city folks who live
by dint of mart;
But give me first and foremost, I hold it is the prime—
That fine old home town paper—one
of the good old time.

The printin' isn't perfect, the ink's not uniform,
The type is set by hand perhaps,— considerably overworn,
The dear old press—I know it well—
it's covered o'er with grime—
But it prints that old home paper—one of the gold old time.

I look for it each week as regularly
it comes,
And when the postman brings it in, I
drop all other chums,
I drink it in, from start to fin, ridiculous and sublime,
That fine old home town paper, one
of the good old time.

Smith's cat may have some kittens;
Jones is putting in new pumps,
My girl chum has got married and the kids have got the mumps.
Jack Wiltsey's built a lean-to, Johnson's roses upward climb
Oh! I love the old home paper, boys, one of the good old time.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 6

PAUL'S EXPERIENCES AT JERUSALEM.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:18-23:24.

GOLDEN TEXT—God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will we not fear him.—Ps. 46:1, 2 (a).

REFERENCE MATERIAL — II Tim. 2:16-18; 4:14, 15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How Paul's Nephew Saved His Life.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Boy Tells of a Plot Against Paul.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul and His Enemies.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul Attacked by a Jewish Mob.

I. Paul's Arrest (21:18-40).

The immediate occasion of this was his effort to remove the prejudice which certain ones held against him. His reception by representatives of the church was most cordial. In order that all the brethren in Jerusalem might graciously receive him, it was proposed to him by the elders that he take a Jewish vow to prove that he was in no way opposed to the law. They recognized that such an act would in no way compromise or involve the Gentile brethren. As to how far this act conciliated the Jews we are not told, but it only enraged the unbelieving Jews, causing them to resort to mob law. These maddened Jews, on the basis of a supposition, seized him and dragged him from the temple and beat him mercilessly, intending to put him to death. Paul was rescued from the mob by the Roman guard, sthtioned nearby. Paul kept himself under control and politely asked permission of the captain to speak to the people. When he addressed him in Greek and quoted his Roman citizenship, the captain granted his request.

II. Paul's Defense (22:1-27).

1. His claim for a rightful hearing (vv. 1-3). (1) His birth (v. 3). He was a Jew born in Tarsus, a city of no mean reputation. (2) His education (v. 3). He was educated in school under the tutorship of Gamaliel, and instructed "according to the perfect manner of the fathers" (v. 3). His zeal (v. 3). He was as zealous toward God as those Jews who were trying to destroy him.

2. His attitude toward Jesus (vv. 4, 5). "I persecuted this way unto the death"—it was one of hatred, as was that of the Jews.

3. How his attitude was changed (vv. 6-16). His changed attitude was brought about by the intervention of God. While on his way to Damascus, with authority to bind and bring the Christians to Jerusalem to be punished, he was smitten to the ground by a light from heaven, and the voice of the Lord said, "Why persecutest thou me?" When Paul inquired as to what the Lord would have him do, he was told to go to Damascus, where he would be told what to do. Ananias was sent by the Lord to make known His will to him.

4. The Lord commissioned him to go to the Gentiles (vv. 17-21). It was not of his own will that he preached to the Gentiles, but by the Lord's direct commission.

III. Paul Before the Sanhedrin (23:1-10).

The Roman officer, in order to learn why Paul was arrested, commanded the chief council to assemble, and brought Paul before them.

1. Paul's earnest look at the council (vv. 1, 2). This was a solicitation of their honor to give him a fair hearing, and also a look of conscious integrity and unfaltering courage. He protests that his behavior as a persecutor of the church and preacher of the Gospel has been in keeping with the highest principle of national integrity. At this the high priest ordered him to be smitten on the mouth.

2. Paul's stern rebuke of the head of the council (v. 3). "God shall smite thee, thou whited sepulcher"—fair without and foul within. This was a just sentence, no doubt directed by the Lord. Paul's words show that he had the highest respect for the office, but the man now occupying it was not worthy of it.

3. Paul's appeal to the Pharisees (vv. 6-10). Seeing that he could not get a fair hearing, and perceiving that the body before him was made up of Pharisees and Sadducees, he appealed to the Pharisees, hoping to get their attention, for his preaching had something in common with their beliefs. This resulted in a squabble.

IV. The Lord Stood by Paul (v. 11).

Paul was in great need of grace to sustain him. He may have begun to question the wisdom of his course in going to Jerusalem, but this assured him that his course was right, and thus comfort was brought to him.

V. The Conspiracy to Kill Paul (vv. 12-22).

More than forty men banded together for the purpose of getting Paul out of the way. They placed themselves under a curse to abstain from eating and drinking until they had murdered him. God defeated their plans without a miracle. This was done by Paul's nephew. Their fatal mistake was that they left God out of the question.

The Wisdom of God.

We speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom which God ordained before the world unto our glory, which none of the princes of the world knew: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.—I Corinthians 2:7, 8.

Fishers of Men.

And Jesus walking by the Sea of Galilee saw two brethren, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers. And he said unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.—Matthew 4:19 and 19.

Neighbors

Your telephone service is in the hands of your neighbors.

The men and women who build and operate the telephone lines are a part of this community. They are interested in business improvement and civic betterment because they know the telephone industry must prosper or decline as the community improves or retrogrades.

Like "the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker," the members of the Bell System Family serve a common need. They understand your telephone requirements and they have the training and the equipment necessary to give you the right kind of service.

Whether it be to put the people of this vicinity in touch with each other, or in communication with points from 35 to 3,500 miles distant, this organization is on the alert day and night.

But the Home Paper Told It!

"Wasn't it fine about Priscilla getting honors in her school work last term?" said Mrs. Smith to Mrs. Brown.

"What?" asked Mrs. Brown. "I didn't know about it."

"But it was in the Home Town Paper," replied Mrs. Smith. "Don't you take it?"

"No," said Mrs. Brown, "but I am going to."

And she did, for this is a true story.

As much a part of the community life as is the school or church is the Home Town Paper.

Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week, Nov. 7-12

Strong for Home Paper

"No, I don't take the local paper any more," one farmer said to another as they were waiting at the creamery to unload their milk.

They had just been looking at a poster advertising "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week, November 7-12." "I take a daily paper, and that's about all I need. It has a few items every week from our community, and I feel that I save two dollars a year by not subscribing to the home paper."

"Well, that's one way to look at it," said the other farmer, "but I've always felt that a local newspaper was a pretty valuable asset to any community, and if everybody took the attitude you do, there couldn't be any local newspaper. Of course we could not get along without our daily papers, because they keep us informed about what's going on throughout the nation and throughout the world, but when you say that they take care of our local news, I don't think you are sticking close to facts. They simply can't, and the publishers haven't any personal interest in our community the way our editor has.

"I have always felt that I got value received for every dollar I've paid out in subscriptions to the local paper, and I don't have an idea that running a country newspaper is any more of a wealth-producing proposition than running a farm. So long as I've got two dollars I intend that the rural mail carrier is going to tuck a copy of the home paper in my box every week."

That farmer knows that the community newspaper is a necessity in his home; that without it his home would be incomplete and his part in the community would be unsatisfactory to himself and his family. He knows the full value of the local newspaper as an institution.

A Community Servant.

The local newspaper is the servant of the community in which it is published, but to be a good and efficient servant it must be fed by the people it serves. It is an institution of the town quite as much as are the schools and the churches, and quite as much entitled to support.

A Necessary Luxury.

The town newspaper is both a luxury and one of the family necessities.

Community's Archives

"Can you tell me the date the Baptist church burned—I mean, of course, the famous fire that all the old inhabitants talk about?"

The librarian looked up from her work. "No, I can't tell you the exact date, but I think I can find it for you quickly, for we have the files of the local paper since it was started. My impression is that the fire—the big fire, as they call it—was about 1873, and it won't be a very long job to look it up."

She went to the stacks in the rear of the library, pulled out a dusty bound volume marked "Herald, 1873," and spread it open on the table. "Ah, here it is," she said, after a minute spent in turning over the yellow leaves.

The person who had inquired for the date, a member of the woman's club of the town, sat down and read the article. "This gives me exactly the information I wanted," she said.

"I thought it would," said the librarian. "I fear most people do not appreciate how valuable is the local newspaper from the viewpoint of local history. In fact, it seems to me that it is about our only source. Only when an event gets into print is it officially recorded and filed for reference. Flimsy as it is, the printed word of today is the counterpart of the ancient stone inscriptions that give us our records of a long-ago yesterday. I consider the bound volumes of our local papers perhaps the most valuable possession of this library."

There's at least one librarian who is giving "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week," which will be observed November 7-12, the most hearty backing she can give.

OLD HOME TOWN PAPER TO HAVE A WEEK

Nation Wide Campaign Launched for November 7-12—Place in Community Life Emphasized.

November 7-12 has been set as "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week," and this newspaper, together with the thousands of country newspapers the United States over—there are not far from 15,000 of them, weeklies and small dailies—is to participate.

The purpose of the campaign is not only to induce residents of the small communities and the home town folks who are far from their native heath to subscribe for the home paper, but also to emphasize the important place the home newspaper plays in the life of its community.

This campaign has the hearty support and co-operation not only of the newspapers but thousands of ministers and school principals, and many state agricultural colleges and farm and home bureau organizations.

Some persons, it is pointed out, have been inclined to belittle the place and function of the country newspaper. They have not realized that in reality the home paper is a community institution and that it enables the other institutions, such as the church and the school and all the rest to function better and more effectively. That it is a necessity if the town is to advance.

During the time between now and "Home Town Paper Week," November 7-12, this newspaper in its columns will have much to say about the Home Town Paper—not this newspaper in particular, but the home town paper the nation over, the home town newspaper as a real and distinctive factor in American life.

A Messenger to Garcia.

The local newspaper is the messenger to Garcia for your town. It goes out to the world as an advertisement for the community. To be a good advertisement it must be a good newspaper. To be a good newspaper it must have the support of the people of the community in the way of subscriptions and advertising. Are you doing your part toward making your paper a good arvertisement for this community, one that will carry the kind of a message the people of the community wish carried to the world?

Back to Town Crier

How many residents of any small community have ever considered what might happen if there were no newspapers? Just previous to "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week," which is to be observed the country over November 7-12, is a good time to recall the plight of Macon, Mo., not long ago, when fire put the Chronicle-Herald out of business for two weeks.

According to The Publishers' Auxiliary, the old town crier, relic of many years back, was yanked from his hiding place, dusted off, and put back on his job, with a jangling bell, a megaphone, and a fog-horn voice only a little worse for long disuse.

It may have been a novelty for two weeks. But think of a community without printers' ink, compelled to get its announcements of auctions, sales, court sessions, births, marriages, deaths, epidemics of sickness, dog ordinances, board meetings, commencements, tax notices, advertisements of help and situations wanted, accidents, and the rest, through a shouted word like that of the ordinary train announcer in a city depot. The town crier was a romantic figure in his day, but few towns would like to return to his ministrations now.

When one thinks of the temporary plight of Macon, and that it might become the permanent handicap of many towns, it is well to think of supporting the local paper.

He Knows His Folks.

Here are some random observations of a man who has visited and studied a good many small communities: If you read your local paper you will not miss much that is happening around home. There is no use saying that you wish your town had a paper like one in the other town, for the other fellow there is saying the same thing. The man who reads his local paper thoroughly is usually a pretty good citizen and has it all over the fellow who does not. Local papers, when all is said and done, do more to uphold the institutions of this state and country than any other known contributing force in the world's work.

Random Observations.

This isn't a country publisher talking, but the editor of a farm paper: The metropolitan daily will bring to one's doorstep the news of the world seen through the spectacles of the city editor, but it is the editor who lives in the heart of the community who is able to reflect the sentiment of the local group. He alone is the true interpreter of events as they affect the small town and the farming community that immediately surrounds the town.

"No Man's Land."

In United States history, the term was used of a territory 170 miles long and 35 miles wide in the north of Texas, ceded to the United States in 1850 and made part of Oklahoma in 1890. Between these years, however, it had no form of government and was the resort of outlaws. "No Man's Land" is also a narrow strip between Delaware and Pennsylvania. By some it is held to belong to the latter state. Some individuals living there prefer to perform their legal obligations to Delaware—some do not recognize citizenship in either state.

Reversing Speech.

A curious phonographic instrument was invented by Poulsen, capable of reversing the sounds of a word or a sentence. A steel piano wire, carried on two spools, passes between the poles of a small electromagnet so connected with a telephone transmitter that spoken words are magnetically recorded on the moving wire and reproduced in a receiving instrument. When the motion of the wire is direct, the words are heard as in ordinary conversation, but if the motion is reversed, the sounds come to the ear in reverse order, like words spelled backward. To represent the order in which the reversed sounds strike the ear, however, not only must the order of the letters composing a word be reversed, but each letter must itself be reversed from right to left, as when reflected from a mirror.

RAIL FUNDING BILL REPORTED.

Washington. — The Administration Railroad Debt Funding bill, as passed by the House and amended by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, was reported to the Senate by Chairman Cummins. The Senator is prepared to press the bill after the disposal of the anti-beer measure.

Explanation of the Senate committee amendments were made in Mr. Cummins' report. The principal change would bar carriers from collecting upon claims for alleged "inefficiency of labor" during Government control.

DARLING BABY BRIGHTENS HOME

Children's Laughter a Pleasing Sound

Altoona, Pa.—"I am writing to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. We had six children die almost at birth. From one hour to nineteen days is all they have lived. Before my next one was born I took a dozen bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and I can say that it is the greatest medicine on earth, for this baby is now four months old, and a healthier baby you would not want. I am sending you a picture of her. Everybody says 'That is a very healthy looking baby.' You have my consent to show these few lines to anybody."—Mrs. C. W. Benz, 131 3rd Avenue, Altoona, Pa.

Mrs. Janssen's experience of interest to childless wives.

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are fond of children, and for a considerable time after we were married I feared I would not have any. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it strengthened me so I now have a nice, strong, healthy baby girl. I suffered very little at childbirth, and I give all the credit to your medicine, and shall always recommend it highly."—Mrs. H. H. Janssen, Millston, Wis.

Mrs. Held of Marinette, Wis., adds her testimonial for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She says:

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a nervous condition and very irregular. My doctor advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It overcame my weakness so that I now have a healthy baby girl after having been married nine years. I am glad to recommend your medicine, and you may use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. H. B. Held, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

There are many, many such homes that were once childless, and are now blessed with healthy, happy children because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored the mother to a strong and healthy condition, as it acts as a natural restorative for ailments as indicated by backache, irregularities, displacements, weakness and nervousness.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative. It can be taken with perfect safety and often prevents serious troubles.

Therefore if you know of any woman who is suffering and has been unable to secure relief and is regretfully looking forward to a childless old age, ask her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has brought health and happiness into so many homes once darkened by illness and despair.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

HOME TOWN HELPS

EVIL OF THE RENTING HABIT

Dependency on Other Hands for Homes Marks a Retrogression in Spirit.

When householders become renters by habit, that is, when they become willing to depend on other hands than their own to provide and maintain their homes for them, society loses much of that valuable individuality, that personal independence, initiative and self-reliance that distinguishes a great people from a mass of people.

For three hundred years the American people have led the world in individuality, initiative and personal independence. The fathers pulled out of the European huddle in order that they might stand on their own feet; and having reached America, they had to stand alone. Most born Americans were born of parents who owned their own homes.

Contentment with huddle, the willingness to live in some one else's warmed and cared-for loft rather than in one's own fought-for and paid-for home marks a retrogression in spirit from the American way to the European way of life.

However we may excuse ourselves for inclination toward the easy comfort of the choreless, commercial, rented compartment, and for shrinking from the harder demands of the detached, owned and paid-for home; and however respectable the renting habit may have become, it must be admitted that our inclination is a phase of social degeneracy, a drift toward the huddle, the beginning of the abandonment of that vitalizing independence of which the owned home is pre-eminently the symbol and support.—Portland (Ore.) Telegram.

TWO ORIGINAL BIRD BATHS

One Is Made Entirely of Logs, the Other on Shingle-Covered Pedestal.

The photograph shows two original ideas in bird-bath construction that can be adapted where it would not be possible to build a cement bath.

At the left is shown a bird bath made entirely from logs, a heavy cross section being used for the base, another for the top, and a few feet of a much smaller log forming the pedestal. The upper log section is hollowed out to receive a round pan which holds the water.

The shingle-covered bath at the right has a base made from two-inch lumber, to which is fastened a tapered wooden frame, made of one-inch strips, each side being two inches smaller at the top than at the bottom. A two-inch cap, with a one-inch board support for the pan, is provided.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Hedge Solves Fencing Problems.

More and more Americans are appreciating the value of privacy in their gardens. It is a sane idea, this—that we plant lovely lawns and grow shrubs and trees, not to form a park for the admiring gaze of motorists and neighbors, but to furnish us with a little kingdom of outdoors all our own, where we can live and breathe and have our being unbeholden and unmolested.

Very frequently, of course, privet and other hedge shrubs seem to be planted only for the sake of dividing one property from another or one section of the garden from another. Then there is reason in keeping the hedge clipped back. But the hedge that is built for the purpose of giving protection should be clipped only enough to give the roots strength and to give it a trim appearance.

Much is being done nowadays with firs and other evergreens for hedges. Nursery men have gone to the ends of the earth for trees and shrubs that would withstand the extremes of our climate. A recently introduced fir has come from the east coast of Asia, where they are accustomed to a hotter summer and colder winter than we have here, and are therefore sure to withstand our extremes. Great expense has also been taken to get shrubs and trees suitable for windbreaks in the trying seashore climate.

Value of Community Play.

Community play is being promoted by local governments because it has been demonstrated to be a practical business proposition. City officials accept as an axiom the statement that the leisure hours of the city must be either an asset or a liability. The people of this county have about a billion hours a day to pass outside of work and sleep. In this leisure time most of the crime, vice and delinquency occur.

An Active Volcano.

The most active volcano in the world is Mount Sangay. It is 17,196 feet high, and is situated on the eastern chain of the Andes, in South America. It has been in constant eruption since the year 1728.

An Elimination Contest.

More than 1,000 novels are written in a year in America; written and published. Ten are read. Two are remembered for a few years. One survives a decade—once in a decade.—Exchange.

Watch Your Kidneys!

That "bad back" is probably due to weak kidneys. It shows in a dull, throbbing backache or sharp twinges when stooping. You have headaches, too, dizzy spells, a tired, nervous feeling and irregular kidney action. Don't neglect it—there is danger of dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands have saved themselves more serious ailments by the timely use of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

A Virginia Case

R. O. Ramsey, farmer, Chase City, Va., says: "There was a nagging pain in my back, making it hard for me to straighten up after bending over. My head would almost split from pain. I was dizzy, and specks blurred my sight. The kidney secretions were scanty in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, so I began their use. I was greatly relieved."

"Movies" and Eye Strain.

One potent cause of eye strain in movie theaters, according to investigators in England, is peculiar to the front seats, especially popular with children, where the eye must be uncomfortably uplifted to see the screen. It is recommended that the visual angle to the top of the screen should not be more than 35 degrees, and the angle to the screen's side also should be limited.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

DIAMOND HAS MANY VIRTUES

But According to Superstition the Gem Must Be a Gift to Person Who Wears It.

According to superstition (and to fact also), the owner of a diamond is lucky, indeed. The diamond should be worn upon the left side, for it is of greater virtue there, for the strength of its growing is toward the North, that is the left side of the world, and the left part of a man when he turneth his face toward the East. He who carries a diamond will have strength and manhood; it will keep him from harm, especially from broken limbs. It will give him victory over all his enemies if his cause is righteous. It will keep him from strife and riots, and is a talisman against enchantments. In fact, if an enchanter tries to work a spell upon the possessor of a diamond he will find it will work upon himself instead. No wild beast will attack the diamond owner. It heals all manner of mental troubles. If poison be brought near it, the diamond will become moist and sweat. In order to be of the greatest virtue, the diamond must be given freely instead of being bought.

EAGLE EASILY KING IN AIR

Has No Trouble in Distancing Airplane Traveling at Speed of Sixty Miles an Hour.

The eagle, according to aeronautists, is not merely the king of birds, but in flying quality the swiftest of all birds. A French "flyer" from the French naval station at Salonica in February, 1916, had a match with an eagle near Mount Olympus. The eagle competed of his free will. "I was followed by the eagle," writes Commander Larrowy, "at a distance of about one hundred feet. Our machine was making her full measured sixty nautical miles an hour In comparison with us the bird seemed so perfectly at a standstill that I was able to photograph it with an exposure of a half second, as the sky was cloudy, and the plane gave an absolutely neat reproduction. For two minutes the bird practically did not move its wings, and seemed to glide, except every ten or twelve seconds, when it made a very slight and careless sort of rowing motion as if to keep fit. When the bird abandoned all thought of attacking its strange rival it went full speed ahead, and covering much more than sixty miles an hour soon disappeared."

Does one obey his own rules any better than men obey the laws of their country?

Some men who are short on hair are long on brains.

Why should you follow a crooked path?

Often a cowpath has been allowed to become a village street, and as the village expanded, tradition has made the winding way an expression of a cow's will.

Habit is always forging chains to enslave us, so that what has been found bearable by the fathers is accepted by the sons.

Who cannot recall the coffee-pot Mother put on the stove early in the morning, warning us not to let it boil over?

As children, we were not permitted to drink tea or coffee, because it would stunt our growth or make us nervous and irritable. When older, however, we craved a hot drink with meals, and custom gave us our tea or coffee.

Finally upon the instructions of the doctor, Mother gave up her tea and coffee. But that meant nothing in our young lives. Our vitality was then strong enough to throw off any ill effects.

But our time came, and we learned by experience that we could not drink tea or coffee. When we had it for breakfast it put our nerves on edge. When we drank it at the evening meal, we tossed about in wakefulness most of the night.

And then we found Postum, a pure cereal beverage, free from the harmful drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee. We liked the rich, satisfying flavor of Postum—and also the better health which resulted. And, too, we were surprised to find how many of our neighbors had made the same discovery—had learned the value of "health first."

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

Team Dashes Into Store

Clinton street in Delaware City was the scene of an unusual accident Friday shortly after noon, when a pair of horses harnessed to a hay wagon, owned and driven by James Alfree, bolted just opposite his place of business and dashed madly up Clinton street.

On reaching Front street Mr. Alfree endeavored to guide the frightened animals toward the marshes near the Pennsylvania Railroad station, in order to stop them, but the runaways were traveling at such a rate of speed that this was impossible, and being unable to make the turn, they dashed into the dry goods store owned by Miss Ella Bartlett of Wilmington and run by Miss Bina Foard of Delaware City.

One of the horses crashed through the door, smashing a show case and causing considerable damage. One horse, with the exception of a few cuts, escaped serious injury. The other horse was not so fortunate as it crashed into the brick wall and was killed instantly, its neck being broken.

Mr. Alfree clung to the side of the wagon, which fortunately did not upset, and escaped injury.

A Timely Suggestion

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

An interesting feature of the Great Majestic Range demonstration at J. F. McWhorter & Son's is the free gift offer of a complete, substantial set of cooking ware with each Great Majestic Rangesold during the week of Nov. 21st to 25th. An expert from the factory will be present all week to clearly explain the advantages of this ultra-modern range. You will find it decidedly interesting and profitable to attend this demonstration if you are in the market for a range.

Good Health

If you would enjoy good health, keep your bowels regular. No one can reasonably hope to feel well, when constipated. When needed, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are mild and gentle.
